Brawl, Fireworks, 'Carving' Occupy Police Officials

North Front Street Fight, Lunch Room Slashing on Cornell Street Are Major Items

Heavy Docket

Three Held for Grand Jury After City Court Hears Cases

Fighting, forbidden fireworks and a cutting affray gave the local police a busy holiday prelude over the week-end and the action was reflected in a heavy docket and a crowded police court this morning.

Held on the more serious charges were Georgia May Pope, 23, colored, of 15 West Strand, charged with second degree assault following an altercation on North Front street, and two others arrested after a fight in Jackson's Lunch Room on Cornell street.

Those taken in custody after the lunch room brawl were Clyde Broadhead, of 12 Martin's Lane, and John Roosa, 36, of 18 Cedar street, both colored. Broadhead was charged with second degree assault and Roosa with second degree assault and resisting an officer.

Waives Examination

Georgia May Pope waived examination when arraigned this morning before City Judge Matthew V. Cahill, and bail was fixed at $500 pending action of the grand jury. Similar bail was fixed for Broadhead, who was represented by Chris J. Flanagan, and the court set bail of $500 for Roosa on the assault charge and $100 on the charge of resisting arrest.

The colored woman was arrested at 12:30 o'clock this morning after the police were called to North Front street. She engaged in a fight with Elizabeth Williams of 15 West Strand, and according to the police used a knife on the latter, inflicting a wound which required 31 stitches to close.

The Williams woman was taken to the Kingston Hospital for treatment. The two women, according to the police, during their fighting crashed through a window of the Everett and Treadwell store on North Front street. The Williams woman was cut about the head and on one side of her body.

Kithcart Treated

James Kithcart, another colored man involved in the lunch room brawl at 1:30 o'clock this morning, was also treated at the Kingston Hospital where X-rays were scheduled to be taken today to determine whether or not he suffers a broken jaw.

Officers Leonard and Special Officer Hoffay were first sent to the lunch room fight and later Officers Reddell and Fallon were dispatched there. Considerable damage was done to the lunch room during the fracas and the noise and excitement attracted a large crowd to the scene.

Others arrested after fighting were Vincent Bouck of 77 Bruyn street and Thomas Malia, who has no home. They were arrested yesterday afternoon and when arraigned this morning, Malia was given a sentence of 10 days in the county jail and Bouck was given a 30-days suspended sentence in the county jail.

Trouble brewed also between Henry Butler of Post street and Louis Leonardo of 11 Broadway, who were charged with disorderly conduct. They were arrested shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday night by Officer Henry Barnham and were given suspended sentences when arraigned this morning.

Public Intoxication

Those arraigned on public intoxication charges were Herbert Phillips of Rockland, Mass.; John Bush of Hurley, Edward Robbins, colored, of 99 Gage street, Benjamin Brown and William Hernandez of New York. All but Robbins were sentenced to pay a fine of $3 or spend three days in the county jail. Robbins was given 180 days suspended sentence and ordered to leave town.

Joseph Haggerty of New York, George Brown of West Hampton and Nicholas Podrick of New York, all held on charges of vagrancy for sleeping in a box car on the O. & W. railroad yard, were given 30-day suspended sentences and ordered to get out of town by 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Throughout the week-end the local police were also kept busy investigating complaints on the illegal discharge of fireworks.

Calls came in from all parts of the city and each complaint was investigated. One resident of DuBois street said that he had heard an explosion and a galvanized barrel came sailing into his yard and struck his house damaging shingles and a window sill. The police were unable to learn what had caused the explosion but it was believed to have been caused by youths shooting off fireworks.

Celebrates Fourth

Manila, July 4 (AP)—(Tuesday)—The Philippines, most distant outpost of the United States, launched its celebration of Independence Day promptly at midnight.

Smiths Surrendered to Him

Police Chief W. F. Young, of Brockville, Ont., to whom Dr. and Mrs. James Monroe Smith surrendered, is shown at his desk. Young said he thought someone was joking when he received a telephone call from a man who said he was Smith. "Before I could decide whether it was a hoax he said he would come to the police station," Young related.

Six Escape Injury As Tire Blows Out

Accident Occurs at Curve Near Glenford Church Sunday Afternoon

A party of half a dozen people, returning home to the city after a week spent in Delaware county, had a narrow escape from serious injuries about 4:45 Sunday afternoon, when the left front tire of their car blew and the machine left the road and hung at a precarious angle over the five-foot ditch along the highway.

The accident happened near the bad curve at the Glenford Church and Deputy Sheriff W. A. O'Brien said that the car dragged along the roadway, out of control, for some 60 or 75 feet, then struck a culvert and wound up spanning the ditch.

Antoine Guasch, 64, of 350 West 110th street, New York city, driver of the DeSoto sedan, suffered cuts about the nose and Mrs. Guasch had a sprained wrist. Other occupants of the car were Alexander Myers and his son, John, and Mr. and Mrs. George Borry, of 153 Locust avenue, New Rochelle. Myers was cut about the lip and his son had an injured knee. Mr. Borry, 74, suffered a dislocation of the knee cap and Mrs. Borry suffered from shock.

Commer's ambulance had been summoned and the attendants gave first-aid after which the members of the party said that they would take a bus to their homes. The car was towed to a garage. The radiator was damaged badly.

Youth Congress Considers Demand to Denounce Reds

New York, July 3 (AP)—The American Youth Congress today considered a demand from 56 New York state legislators that the congress express itself as opposed to Communism as well as Fascism and Nazism.

The 1,100 convention delegates postponed a vote yesterday on a resolution denouncing Communism and referred the resolution to the resolutions committee. It was expected to be reported back to the full convention later.

The statement by the legislators, signed also by Michael Walsh, New York secretary of state, said the congress had condemned Fascism at its last four national conventions, "but never

British Press Launches BroadSides Saying Danzig Is Worth Fighting For; Cabinet Shake-Up Is Considered

Chamberlain Tells House of Commons That Intensive Military Acts Occur in Danzig

'Tourists' Noted

German Nationals Are Seen in Danzig Ostensibly as Visitors

FOREIGN-AT-GLANCE
(By The Associated Press)

FREE CITY OF DANZIG—Nazi Danzig Senate issues decree to mobilize workers for service "vital to the state" in event of emergency growing out of Polish-German clash over Free City.

LONDON—Prime Minister Chamberlain calls on King George amid reports of cabinet shake-up to strengthen warnings to Germany directly this week that she will resist by force any Nazi attempt to annex Danzig.

PARIS—French political circles suggest that France, Britain and Poland make direct warning to Danzig Senate against any move to join reich. French defense forces ready for long crisis.

HANKING—Japanese army reports capture of fortified hill after heavy battle on border between Manchoukuo and Soviet outer Mongolia.

Talks to Commons

London, July 3 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain informed the House of Commons today that the British government had received reliable reports that "intensive measures of a military character" were taking place in Danzig.

His statement marked the first time a British cabinet minister had mentioned publicly reports of Danzig activity.

In response to a question, the prime minister said: "Reliable reports indicate that intensive measures of a military character are being carried out in the Free City."

"A large and increasing number of German Nationals have recently arrived in the Free City, ostensibly as 'tourists' and a local defense corps is being formed under the name of 'tourists'."

"The government are maintaining contact with the Polish and French governments regarding developments in Danzig."

(In Danzig, officials acknowledged Saturday that "precautionary measures" had been taken and black-uniformed Danzig S. S. men were in complete charge of the hill and had partial control of another.

"The police force had been augmented and men appeared wearing on their sleeves light bands with the legend 'Hemwehr,' which official quarters said indicated they were Danzig S. S. men who had volunteered for police service. Danzig officials insisted not a single German 'with or without a uniform' was on duty in the Free City."

(An Associated Press dispatch from the free city today said there were no signs of new developments of a military nature.)

Quiet Week-end

The week-end passed without materialization of the widely-rumored Danzig coup, but Europe's nervousness over the situation in the Nazi-destined free city persisted undiminished today.

Danzig itself the Nazi-controlled senate issued a decree to draft workers for labor "vital to the state" in event of an emergency, and in Danzig political circles there was a new note of nervousness over the uncertainty of the immediate future.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain called on King George at Buckingham palace amid reports he would bring the veteran statesman Winston Churchill, a former first lord of the admiralty and long an outspoken foe of German Nazism, into the cabinet to give strengthened meaning to the current flood of official British warnings to Germany against taking any aggressive action.

Three Sisters Die As Craft Capsizes

Rain-Swollen Pennsylvania River at West Newton Too Much for Boat

West Newton, Pa., July 3 (AP)—Linked arm in arm, three young sisters who couldn't swim leaped from a sinking skiff and drowned in the treacherous, rain-swollen Youghiogheny river, Sunday.

A companion, 20-year-old Margaret Skyrac, swept toward shore by the turbulent current, grasped a branch of an overhanging tree and pulled herself to safety. Then, half-exhausted, she stumbled and ran to this western Pennsylvania community to gasp out news of the tragedy.

Lawmakers Might Vote This Week

Many Would Finish Job, but Report Is GOP Leaders Would Wait Week

Albany, N. Y., July 3 (AP)—Lawmakers, impatient for adjournment of the special session of the legislature, pressed today for a final vote this week on Republican-revised, $390,000,000 "economy" budget.

Sentiment among many legislators for "finishing the job," an authoritative source said, made possible their recall Friday despite earlier indications from Republican majority leaders that action would be deferred until next Monday.

Meantime Senate Majority Leader Joe R. Hanley asserted party chiefs would "decide definitely" on a date at a conference Wednesday. Scheduled enactment of the new budget last week was blocked by Democratic Governor Lehman's refusal to provide the "message of necessity" that would have waived the necessary three-day layover of bills before a vote.

"Legislative" sessions—designed only to "age" the bills and necessitating attendance of but few members—were slated today and Wednesday in both senate and assembly. The first of three such meetings required took place Saturday.

Democrats served formal notice of a last ditch fight for restoration of $10,000,000 which Republicans shaved from state aid for schools and $7,000,000 trimmed from highway appropriations. They formed the major savings in a $25,000,000 reduction of the governor's proposed $415,000,000 spending program.

13 Billions for Year

Congress Sets Peacetime Record, More Than Billion and Three-Quarters Above Last Year; Roosevelt Criticizes Some Increases

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Setting a peacetime record, Congress has authorized federal expenditures of $13,110,000,000 for the new fiscal year—$1,749,000,000 above last session's aggregate.

Legislative leaders pointed out that a substantial part of the increase was due to factors over which Congress had little direct control. These include such things as the mounting reserve funds for old-age pensions and the railroad retirement program.

So-called permanent appropriations—such as interest on the national debt—for which Congress must provide stipulated amounts annually, amounted to $3,624,812,065 this year.

President Roosevelt criticized some of the increases, notably the $338,000,000 which the Senate tacked onto the agriculture department appropriation bill for partly payments to farmers and for disposal of surplus commodities. He held that Congress should provide the taxes to raise the money.

Expansion of the army and navy in the face of troubled world conditions accounted for $1,783,187,847. This included $773,049,151 to continue the naval building program and for new naval air bases in the nation's outposts.

The army got $732,187,871, including funds for modern weapons and for expansion of the air corps to 5,500 planes.

The departmental bills thus far approved by Congress and their totals follow:
Independent agencies $1,668,218,340

Neutrality and Lending Bills Key to Congressional Windup

President Is Expected This Week to Tell Whether He'd Force Issues or Close Out Session

MAJOR LEGISLATION
Washington, July 3 (AP)—This is the status of major legislation before congress at the start of its seventh month:

LENDING—President's $3,860,000,000 lending program for self-liquidating projects still before committees.

NEUTRALITY—House passed measure containing arms embargo which administration opposes; senate still to act.

MONETARY—House approved continuance of President's emergency powers; senate votes Wednesday.

SOCIAL SECURITY—Extension of system awaits senate action after house passage.

POLITICS—Hatch bill to curb political activity by federal workers passed by senate; house acts soon.

LABOR RELATIONS—House votes soon on proposal to investigate labor board; action on amendments to Wagner act in doubt.

Key to Adjournment
Washington, July 3 (AP)—The administration's neutrality and lending programs held the key today to congressional adjournment, with every indication of fresh rebellions over both issues.

Most legislators are out of the capital over the Independence Day recess, but those still at their desks predicted that President Roosevelt would tell his lieutenants this week whether they should try to force through those two controversial measures or let the session end in mid-July.

Leaders were reconsidering their strategy in view of the house refusal to repeal the existing arms embargo and the Republican speech-making coup in the senate which prevented immediate ex-

Some Sections Attribute Strong Rumors of Nazi Coup to German Test of Firmness

Swift Coup

Rumors in Europe That Fuehrer Plans Sudden Seizure

London, July 3 (AP)—With conspicuous unanimity the British press has launched broadsides to convince public opinion at home—and in Germany—that Danzig is worth a war and involves a vital issue both to Poland and the British empire.

At the same time some sections of the press attributed strong rumors of a projected Nazi coup in the Free City during the past week-end to a German attempt to test British and French firmness in what was called "a war of nerves."

There was speculation whether the British-French barrage of warnings had any effect in postponing or averting a crisis over Danzig.

But memory of the situation in May, 1938, four months before the Czechoslovak crisis, dampened any feeling of optimism in British circles.

At that time rumors swept Europe that Germany planned a swift coup to bring the Sudetenland into the Reich. Britain and France responded with military precautions and warnings. The result encouraged feeling in some quarters that Hitler had been "frightened off."

Yet the crisis came later, in September, and the Munich conference enabled Hitler to achieve dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

That dismemberment formed the keynote of today's explanations of why Danzig is so vital alike to Poland and Britain.

The similarity of all these explanations indicated they were a part of a British preparedness campaign.

Not Interested

The public was told that Hitler was not interested in Danzig merely because it was a German city but for strategic reasons. He wants it, the British press said with one voice, because it would give him a stranglehold on Poland and enable him to dismember that country the same way he broke up Czechoslovakia.

The fate of the latter republic was pointed to as proof that Hitler's claims of "self-determination" for the Sudetenland were used only as a means to an end.

As for Danzig, British writers recalled the words of Frederick the Great that whoever holds the mouth of the Vistula river is more a master of Poland than her own government.

Editorial and political writers said Danzig was important for Britain because it had become the crux of British policy and a decisive point for the British-French front.

Garvin's Statement

J. L. Garvin, editor of Lord Astor's Sunday Observer, and one-time leading advocate of appeasement of Germany, put the issue this way:

"If Britain shirked the first test and balked her pledges no one in the world would believe that we had the guts for any test. Our name would smell. Our diplomatic connections would dissolve. Our reputation would perish. We should be counted out of the rank of real great powers."

"Ascendancy in Europe, Africa and Asia would belong to the axis powers and its confederates. The British empire, as was once threatened in a former era, would become 'an object of compensation.'"

The press also emphasized that any attempt to change the status of Danzig without Poland's consent—whether from within or without—would, in the words of the Manchester Guardian, "be another breach of international agreements, another repudiation of peaceful methods in favor of force indeed another act of aggression."

"Would Not Differ"

Continuing, the paper said "it would not differ in kind from German annexations of Austria, Czechoslovakia and Memel, for it is an act of aggression if it is not an attempt to change the status quo by force without the consent and against the will of those countries chiefly concerned."

Last week's speech by Lord Halifax, the foreign secretary, was praised widely in the press as a forceful expression of Britain's determination "to resist aggression."

The Liberal News Chronicle said "that warning in a way which even Berlin's wishful thinking could hardly have mistaken if the prime

President Rests at Hyde Park, Refuses to See Any Callers

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 3 (AP)—In the seclusion of his family home, President Roosevelt denied himself callers today so his time would be free for relaxation, a cursory study of communications from Washington, and visiting with his mother.

White House officials said the President might drive about the 1,200 acres of his Hudson valley estate, which is showing the effects of weeks of drought.

The President arrived yesterday from Washington to spend three days with his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, before she leaves for Europe Thursday. He spent a quiet Sunday, although it was announced he had signed a bill completing his emergency defense program. The measure appropriates $223,398,047 and authorizes contracts up to $70,497,500, mainly for war department purchases of nearly 2,500 aircraft and national guard planes.

It also allows expenditure of $14,250,000 for educational orders, to acquaint industry with the processes of munitions manufacture, and $27,000,000 to build up the Panama canal garrison.

Money also is included to begin work on five new air bases and two air depots. The bases will be in the Canal Zone, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the northeastern and southeastern states, and the depots in the southeastern area and in Utah.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Continuity
Ambrosia, W. Va.—C. E. Pullin dispatched the first and last letters from the post office in this community.

Discontinued by postal authorities, the office had only one postmaster in 50 years—Pullin.

Mutual Aid
Greensboro, N. C.—Deputy Sheriff J. W. Donovan helped out three youthful hitch-hikers—and then they helped him.

After he stopped to give them a lift in his automobile, he discovered they were three youths he and his associates had been looking for on robbery charges.

Complacent Angler
Kansas City—Claude McIndoo took bad aim while practicing casting.

A double hook caught in his brother Philip's scalp. At General Hospital Claude told an intern: "Be careful of that plug."

The operation required four stitches in Philip's scalp, but the plug was not damaged.

Rough Stuff
Seattle—Mrs. Eleanor Bradley's bed threw her out the window. The 22-year-old housewife was knocking on the bed to close a window. Tricky springs threw her off balance. She landed 10 feet below the window but was only bruised.

Statisticians
Watertown, Wis.—Otto Gronert, a retired farmer, likes to "keep track of things." For instance, while sitting around his home last summer, Gronert swatted 50,083 flies. And on a recent visit to the farm of his son, Elmer, in one day he picked 5,943 potato bugs. That Gronert added, was "not counting the baby ones."

"Wrong Way" Beatrice
Omaha, Neb.—Beatrice Mack, Omaha's flying school teacher, has outlined a stiff course of study for herself in map reading and navigation.

She started to fly back to Omaha from Des Moines recently, wound up first in a pasture near Chillicothe, Mo., and eventually landed in Omaha—more than a day and 500 air miles out of Des Moines, just 130 miles as a crow flies from her original destination.

The earliest American roads followed Indian or buffalo trails.

Know Summer Care For Lovely Gardens

Beautify Shrubs, Trees, Lawns

The grown-up season in your garden—and you have time at last to spruce up shrubbery, trees, lawn with a little simple care!

Decorative evergreens—yews, hemlock, arborvitae—need shearing in midsummer to prevent shagginess. Privet hedges may be clipped square or round at the top—A in our diagram. And all types of hedges will fill out better if you cut them as shown in diagram—wider at bottom (B) than at top.

Do you have a wisteria reluctant to bloom? A summer pruning of rampant shoots will help your wisteria to bloom next season.

Are trees damaged by summer storms? Cut off jagged ends, treat the exposed wood with special tree paint.

Lawns? In dry weather raise the bottom blade of the mower and cut the grass less often. Put off watering as long as you can, then do it thoroughly.

Find more helpful pointers on trees, shrubs, lawns, vines in our 32-page booklet by a well-known horticulturist. Also tells how to raise and care for annuals, perennials, herbs, bulbs, roses. Advises you on soils, fertilizers, checking pests, diseases.

Only Two County Offices on Ticket

At the fall election there will be a short county ticket with only the office of county clerk and district attorney to be filled.

There will be no election for coroner this fall since two coroners were elected last year due to the necessity of electing a coroner to fill the term of Coroner DuBois, who was killed in an automobile accident. The usual election to fill an expiring term was also held last fall.

This fall the full town ticket will be elected, headed by supervisors from each town.

In the city an election for mayor, alderman-at-large, supervisors and aldermen will be held. Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman has announced that he will be the Republican candidate to succeed himself.

County caucuses will be held July 27, with the county convention on July 29 at the municipal auditorium. The city caucuses will be held on July 24, with the city convention held at the court house on Monday evening, July 31.

SHOOTING

As our national Independence Day approached this year, it faced a jumpy world. Americans could almost fancy that exploding firecrackers were the boom of distant guns. Instead of the "bonfires and illuminations" that Daniel Webster prescribed for us, there were in many countries imminent threats of air bombing. There might be fired at any moment a new "shot heard round the world," serving as a signal for a new and worse World War.

So far, the shot does not seem to have been fired. The blow has not yet fallen. May it be long postponed.

This world is too small now for shooting affairs. There is no more "glory" in war—only horror and lingering poverty and suffering. And under the pressure of present fears, it is hard, in this or any other reasonably sane country, to feel much like celebrating any war, however righteous or far-off.

Personal combat, which was at least human, is gone. There is only mass slaughter, or preparation for it. Sensitive and imaginative Americans, on this historic festival, do not hate England any more, even if they have a lurking sense of guilt about it, as if hatred were our patriotic duty. We only hate war, and feel it as an imminent horror threatening to overrun the world and perhaps to reach us even here, on this secure continent.

The children still enjoy their firecrackers, but grown-ups grow jumpy at explosions more easily than they used to, and wish all the shooting could be avoided. Silent, colored fireworks displays are much more satisfactory.

CANADA AND PAN-AMERICA

A question that is agitating many of our Canadian friends is that of joining, or remaining outside, the Pan-American Union. If they joined it and then sided with the United States in all discussions, it is argued, they would arouse the distrust and antagonism of Latin-Americans. In trade, they are our rivals below the Rio Grande, although it is a friendly competition so far and not complicated with problems of propaganda or domination.

Dr. Chester Martin of Toronto University suggests one possibility under which Canada could and probably would join the Pan-American Union. He thinks she might do so if the United States move toward the center of world affairs, and if the present Pan-American Union were replaced by an "association to which all of the sovereign powers of the Western Hemisphere including France, Holland and Great Britain belonged."

Such ideas are strange to the average United States citizen who has never stopped to think that, at present, the Pan-American Union is really a rather exclusive organization of which only our country and the Latin-American republics are members. Will it ever be more than that? Should it be more? These questions no doubt will be answered some time in the future. They do not seem urgent today.

EXPOSITION MORALS

Southern Rhodesia, a territory of British South Africa, which doesn't cut much figure in size and still less in population, has given New York a lecture on morals. Removing its name, flag and crest from the Victoria Falls exhibit, which happens to be in a vulgar "amusement" area of the World's Fair, it explains that it does so because of instructions from a government which objects to the "depraved and obscene" shows surrounding the exhibit.

However small a figure this exhibit is in an exhibition so vast and varied, the protest commands general attention. Perhaps the serious and dignified exhibit in question should not have been in that area. But it may well be asked whether an amusement section such as the one in question is reported to be has any real business in a supposedly respectable fair, catering to supposedly respectable people.

It might be unnecessarily prudish to say that there shouldn't be, in any such fair, anything not morally suitable for anybody who might happen to see it. Many people, many minds, many tastes. But modest and sensitive people who form a large part of the general public have been considerably shocked by things they have run into, in recent "World's Fairs". It is better to be prudish than indecent.

CHILDREN OF IMMIGRANTS

In a recent issue of "The New American", a magazine published by The Polish Students and Alumni Association of America, the leading article deals with the attitude toward their country of the American-born sons of Polish immigrants. The author of the article finds considerable fault with Polish-American youth. He finds them lacking loyalties, aimless, unambitious, of vague desires, and having no credo.

"It is a generation content to exonerate itself at the expense of everything but itself, and one which never has stopped to measure its own stature and significance," says the article bluntly.

"Polish-American youth has reached the place where it must decide either to be of value to this great American nation or to pursue its present course to social failure and oblivion."

"By adherence to Polish culture we do not mean the constant recital of the achievements of Kosciuszko and Pulaski. Less bragging about them and more inquiry into the tradition of the Polish spirit which forced them to fight for the liberty of the United States is what Polish-American youth needs."

"Our fathers contributed to the growth of America by fighting its battle and by working in its mines, its factories and its broad fields."

The role of the sons is different, but it should be equally useful, and played with the same spirit and love of liberty. Here is a patriotic call which could be taken to heart by other young Americans, including many of native stock.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

GETTING MOST OUT OF VACATION

When parents with sons and daughters in their teens or twenties think of how hard these children work in school, factory or office, and then think of the vacation plans of these young people they may be greatly worried.

Why? Many of these young men and women plan a vacation that means hiking, wheeling, rowing, riding, canoeing all day and perhaps dancing until midnight five or six nights each week. Is it any wonder that many of them come back tired mentally and physically?

Yet those who know young people best tell us that during the entire year these young people have been planning what they want most to do during the two or three weeks of their vacation. And it is this doing what they have planned to do that means happiness to them.

Notwithstanding that it means much happiness and satisfaction to do what one wants to do, nevertheless when one is "ready for" or "in need" of a vacation, both the mind and body are usually tired. To put the body and often the mind under extra strain at this time, even doing what one wants to do, is a big mistake.

I usually tell friends and patients that the biggest factor in getting the most out of a vacation is undoubtedly doing what one wants or has planned to do—and this can be done and yet the individual can return home strong and refreshed from his vacation.

There is just one suggestion that I continue to make and that is that as much mental and physical work is crowded into the last few days before going on a vacation the first thought after arriving at one's vacation spot is to rest completely for two whole days. This allows the body to gain strength and then this added strength is available to enjoy the vacation.

Similarly, before the vacation period ends, one should again give the body the last two days for rest. It means arriving home strong and rested instead of weak and tired. This method, which apparently causes a loss of four days in vacation, really means a gain, for while the vacation days are shorter they are longer in enjoyment because there is strength with which to enjoy them.

Dr. Miller Reports On Convention of Townsend Clubs

Editor, The Freeman:

As a delegate of the Kingston Townsend Club to the National Townsend Convention at Indianapolis last week, I would like to give your readers some inside views and facts concerning it. Our local club was represented by four delegates.

The convention was held in the Cattle Barn, which has a seating capacity of about 12,000. There is standing room for about 3,000 more. At every session Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the building was crowded to its utmost capacity. In addition about 3,000 people stood on the outside at the many doors and low windows of the building, struggling eagerly to hear the many speakers, singers, and the business of the convention.

The writer was present at every session and heard every speaker. Seldom in the history of America have such great audiences assembled in behalf of any popular movement. These people were distinguished by intelligence, enthusiasm and high moral and patriotic ideals. They had a clear understanding of the tragic condition of our country, and were confident that they have the remedy for our national recovery.

John Weir of California presided. He was well qualified for meeting every parliamentary problem. His sparkling wit and good sense kept the great audience in a happy mood day after day. The convention opened with prayer. Then followed addresses of welcome by Mayor Sullivan of Indianapolis and Governor Clifford Townsend of Indiana. The latter spoke particularly sympathetically of the Townsend movement.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the founder of the movement, was often enthusiastically applauded, showing plainly the mighty hold that he has upon the hearts of his vast host of followers. Yet nothing is more conspicuous about him than his modesty. There is nothing in his words or bearing of the autocrat or dictator.

Routine matters of business and committee reports occupied much time. The discussions at times became somewhat tense but they were always courteous and intelligent. The presiding officer and speakers were all men and women of standing, education and some of national renown. The consecration of that great body of representative Americans to the great humanitarian cause that brought them to Indianapolis was shadowed all else. The political significance of this movement as 1940 approaches cannot be ignored or ridiculed. It is a great human cry for justice to the aged and the unemployed that political leaders and legislators dare not ignore.

Distinguished speakers addressed the convention, heartily endorsing the Townsend movement. Among these were U. S. Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, one of the six most prominent men in Congress, Senator Pat Cannon of Florida who thrilled the great audience with his wit and statesmanship, Senator Sheridan Downey of California, Congressman Martin F. Smith of Washington, Homer Angell of Oregon, and others.

The only discordant note in the convention arose when the name of Judge Harvey Smith of Kentucky was mentioned. He or his friends had appealed to the clubs of the country to elect him permanent chairman of the convention. But his support in the convention was pathetically small. His name was mentioned only once and hisses followed the mention of his name for the impression has gone abroad that he wanted to supplant Dr. Townsend as head of the movement.

The address of Dr. Townsend was one of the great messages of the convention showing a statesmanlike grasp of the great problems that gave rise to this nationwide social, economic and political movement. He spoke with a clear voice and vigorous mind, with the conviction and courage of a great leader. The tremendous applause and ovation that was given him might easily have unbalanced the head of a weaker man.

Saturday evening a banquet was held in honor of Mrs. Francis E. Townsend, wife and co-laborer of the founder of the movement. It is doubtful if such a banquet was ever seen in Indianapolis with its 400,000 population. The banquet was held in the manufacturing building on the State Fair Grounds. The tables covered five or six acres. Nearly 4,000 people partook of this banquet at $1.50 a plate. The line of banqueters would have stretched for more than two miles if placed in a single row.

At the table of honor sat Dr. and Mrs. Townsend, their son, Robert, and prominent men and women of the movement. Arranged near them were a profusion of flowers, baskets and various forms, presented by every state in the union, in honor of Mrs. Townsend. Dr. and Mrs. Townsend spoke briefly, almost with emotion at the most marvelous tribute to Mrs. Townsend. Songs and music added to the pleasure of this occasion.

Sunday afternoon, the last session was held at the famous race track stadium where six or eight thousand seats were all occupied. A number of speakers addressed this meeting including Dr. Townsend.

The music of the convention was a notable feature. Madame Starke of Salt Lake City, thrilled the audience to high enthusiasm day after day with her solos. Her exceptionally strong voice and clear enunciation carried her message of song to every part of the tabernacle, especially with the help of the loud speakers. Her song, "God Bless America," was called for over and over and profoundly touched and stirred all hearts.

Robert C. Townsend, son of Dr. Townsend, secretary and treasurer of the organization at Chicago headquarters, is a modest young man about 35 years of age, but well fitted for his task. He is also a very popular and effective speaker. We expect to have him or his father as one of our speakers at the Eastern New York conference to be held here in Kingston Saturday afternoon and evening, July 15, two weeks hence, in the Municipal Auditorium.

DR. CARR MILLER, President Kingston Townsend Club.

Independence Day

Editor The Freeman:

Tuesday, July 4, will again be Independence Day, and we in these great United States will celebrate it in peace. Our memories go back to the occasion for Memorial Days. We recall the sacrifices of those who gave this nation birth and of the many loyal soldiers and sailors who have since fought to keep our land one of freedom and while hatred and turmoil are seething in many foreign lands, how thankful we are that we, as a nation, are at peace with all countries.

Let us show our outward expression by raising our beloved flag from sunrise to sunset on Tuesday, July 4.

During the celebration of the 130th anniversary of the Flatbush Reformed Church, held in 1937, the Chimura residence was included in a tour of the old houses of the vicinity, and many visitors made a pilgrimage to the house which stands as a monument to the skill of the Dutch burghers.

Hudson Prepares For July 4 Parade

Hudson firemen are expecting a big time at their annual parade and inspection of the city fire department tomorrow. In addition to the six fire companies of the city it is stated that there probably will be eight or ten visiting companies from Columbia county communities within a radius of 30 miles, with as many musical organizations in line.

In addition to the firemen the various city organizations will turn out for the parade, including the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and civic bodies.

The parade will start at 2 o'clock on the Fourth and at the office of the chief engineer this morning it was estimated there will probably be 1,000 to 1,200 men in line.

Among the bands which will be present will be the big Rensselaer Legion Band. Tonight the Yankee Doodle Band and Bugle Corps will give a concert at Hudson at the Edmonds Hose Co.

Following the parade and inspection tomorrow the visiting firemen will be entertained at the various firehouses.

The ideal hammock should be just large enough for one, but strong enough for two.

More Than Mere Admiration in Boom Started by Senator Johnson for Senator Wheeler

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)
Washington, July 3.—There is a good deal more than mere admiration of one senator for another in the boom just started by Senator Johnson of Colorado, Democrat, urging the nomination of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana for the presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1940.

First it will be noted that Senator Johnson "assumes" that President Roosevelt will refuse the nomination. This is important in order that there may be no slightest offense given to the President or encouragement offered to those who might construe the candidacy as an anti-Roosevelt affair.

Next it will be observed that Mr. Johnson takes pains to point out that only on a few things has Senator Wheeler differed from the President and then only in method rather than in objective.

Examined closely, this can be translated into some significant political strategy. For the main premise of the "draft Roosevelt" cohorts is that a "liberal" must be nominated and that the President can make the best run on his own record. But, on the other hand, hardly anybody who wants to be fair about it can say Burt Wheeler is not a liberal. His record speaks for itself.

From the earliest days of the administration, Mr. Wheeler has been on the "liberal" side of the fight. If the anti-holding company bill was a test of liberalism, the Montana senator, it will be recalled, led the fight for the Wheeler-Rayburn law. If the Wagner labor act was a test, he was found supporting that measure wholeheartedly. Again and again he has been in the forefront of the administration's fights. It will be recalled that he ran for the vice presidency on the Progressive ticket in 1924 with the late Senator La Follette.

So much have certain New Dealers been impressed with the voting capacity of the Montana senator that a few days ago published reports, perhaps inspired from some of the younger New Dealers, had it that Mr. Wheeler would be a welcome running mate for the vice presidency along with the "draft Roosevelt" ticket.

Maybe the New Dealers got advance word of what was being planned by Senator Johnson of Colorado and sought to head him off by having the Montana senator to the plan of an alliance with the President for 1940. Anyway, Senator Wheeler announced unequivocally that he would not run on a third-term ticket with the President and didn't believe Mr. Roosevelt wanted a third term and so on.

The upshot of the week's developments is that Mr. Wheeler has been urged to go it alone by his colleagues and it would not be surprising if he became the leading liberal candidate on the Democratic side, just as Vice President Garner is coming to be the leading conservative candidate, both the Garner and Wheeler booms being based on the assumption that Mr. Roosevelt in due time will announce his refusal to accept a renomination.

What would the President's attitude be toward the Wheeler candidacy? The one, almost unadmissioned sin that Senator Wheeler committed was to lead the memorable fight in the Senate against the enlargement of the Supreme Court. It was a bitter fight and has left its scars.

But, it would appear that the administration now considers it won that fight after all because vacancies occurred in the court which enabled the President to accomplish what he set forth in his original message to Congress on the nature of the decisions of the court. If the New Deal has won anyway, then Mr. Wheeler is more to be pitied than scorned for his allegedly futile efforts.

Certainly, if elected, Burton Wheeler could be expected to carry on the New Deal policies, correcting them in practical aspects but maintaining their liberal flavor and purpose. He is a sincere and an actual liberal and what some of the business elements who have come up against him say is that he will listen to argument and attempt to work out solutions of complicated problems on a practical basis. He has, of course, antagonized other business elements but the New Dealers never worry about that. What they do worry about is whether a so-called liberal can be absorbed hook, line and sinker by selfish, conservative interests. They need have little worry about Burt Wheeler on that score.

Taking a look at Burt Wheeler from another angle, he is found to be of old New England stock, a good campaigner, a hard worker, and a public servant with the courage of his convictions. He has made enemies in public life, but he has made friends, too. The presence of the Wheeler bomb is bound to be of more embarrassment to the "draft Roosevelt" generals than the Garner boom, for it cannot be brushed aside as the creature of reactionary interests.

Mr. Wheeler has won his spurs in the cause of liberalism. Why should he be denied a chance for the nomination? The burden of proof to the contrary will rest on the officeholding group who may find themselves forced into the position of seeming to want to violate tradition merely to perpetuate themselves in power. And the odd part of it is that, if elected, Burt Wheeler is the type who probably would not dismiss from the policy-making jobs any individual of sound administrative capacity just because he originally came into the government as a Roosevelt liberal. OOPS! THE QUADS ARE GETTING SCRAPPY

It's a free-for-all these days in the b. crib that is home for the Badgett quadruplets, of Galveston, Texas. Now five months old, the nation's newest quads are learning to frolic and tussle. Joan, the heavyweight, weighs 14 pounds; the other 10. Here, Jeanette is on top fighting with Joan, and Joyce is on top fighting with Jeraldine.

French Use Microbes to Give Any 'Age' to Wine

PARIS.—Good, aged wine—from microbes—is the latest fad these days. Through the help of the Pasteur Institute, famous for its researches into harmful microbes, winemakers today are able to obtain supplies of microbes best suited for their particular blends of grape juice.

The combination of these harmless microbes and heat will result in giving wine an "age" of 20 years within 12 months. The same process has been developed for some of France's choice cheeses, one company even setting up a factory abroad to develop French cheeses from local milk plus Pasteur microbes.

Racine 'Debutramps' to Give Society Glittering Eyeful

T. A. Mesereau Is West Point Cadet

Racine, Wis., July 3 (AP)—This was the coming-out day for the "five debutramps," and judging by the looks of things, it may turn out to be quite a party.

The "debutramps," it should be said immediately, are males. They intend to give Racine society a glittering eyeful tonight as they make their formal debut.

Two hundred and fifty invitations were sent out. They read:

"The Five Debutramps,"

W. Henry Fromm, III

W. Matthew Hamilton, VI

R. Dodson Morgan, XIV

J. Fulton Thompson, IX

G. Keith Tolleson, IX

Request the pleasure of your company at a dance on the occasion of their presentation to society on Monday, the third of July, at nine thirty clock.

Meadowbrook Country Club.

R. S. V. P."

The debutramps will form a receiving line, resplendent in the black and white of summer dinner clothes.

The "R. S. V. P." touched many a responsive chord. One acceptance came attached to a ring of sausage. It read:

"It's bologna no matter how you slice it, but we're coming."

The mourning dove looks so much like the extinct passenger pigeon that reports are constantly being circulated that the vanished birds have been seen. In color and contour there is a marked resemblance.

Would Use Local Men on Tree Work

A bid for the employment of local men on the Elm tree project was made by Mayor Heiselein in a letter to the project authorities, the mayor announced today. The following is the letter:

Mayor's Office, Kingston, New York
July 1, 1939.

New York State Employment Service, White Plains, N. Y.

Attention: Mr. Sampson

Gentlemen:

I understand from Mr. Simpson of our local employment office that the requisition for men to be employed on the Elm tree projects in this area came from your office.

It is encouraging to know that the federal government has made available these worthwhile jobs on much needed projects in this and many other communities, but out of 100 or more men who, I am informed, are employed on the Elm tree project, there are no local men employed, although we have a large number of college trained youths without employment.

Inasmuch as this project is operating in Ulster county, it seems to me reasonable enough that I should hereby register with you the objection of local citizens to the employment of all non-resident men on Elm tree projects.

May I, therefore, ask that you review the application of local young men and do all in your power to see that a fair number of them are selected for this work.

Your assistance will be deeply appreciated.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) C. J. Heiselein, Mayor.

Connie Mack Is Improved Today

Philadelphia, July 3 (AP)—Although still in serious condition, Connie Mack, beloved dean of baseball, appeared today to be mending his fight against the illness which forced his return from Boston on a stretcher.

Roy Mack, son of the veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, reported last night his father showed "marked improvement" since he returned home and had asked the outcome and tendence of the two games the Athletics lost to Washington yesterday.

The younger Mack, vice president of the Athletics, blamed the illness of his 76-year-old father's bladder ailment on excitement brought by the 13-home run double-header drubbing inflicted on the Athletics by New York last Wednesday, a heavy meal he bolted afterward and listening to the Gus-Galento fight that night.

British Press Launches Attack

Chamberlain had taken the opportunity last night to state in blunt language that Lord Halifax's warning of last week applied to any act aimed at altering the status of Danzig. The choice between peace and war may hang on such bluntness.

Chamberlain's speech

Instead, Chamberlain said in a broadcast speech:

"Let no one make the mistake of supposing that we are not ready to throw our whole strength into the scale, if need be, to resist aggression whether against ourselves or against those whose independence we have undertaken to defend."

Even David Low, famous political cartoonist of Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard, who usually belittles British statesmanship, came out today with a cartoon in striking accord with the whole press campaign.

It pictured a chamberlain standing with a sign saying "We cannot remain unmoved." In front of him was Lord Halifax saying "We shall resist."

On the flat in bold letters were the words "We shall fight," with Adolf Hitler, German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, Air Minister Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels cringing back in dismay.

Despite all this, however, the British public went about its work calmly. There were no crowds in Downing street such as during the September crisis. And cricket matches still played to huge crowds.

Neutrality and Lending Are Key

tension of the President's monetary powers. The senate will vote Wednesday on the monetary bill.

Most anti-administration senators contended it would be futile for their chamber to take up the neutrality question. The house bill, rewritten to retain most of the present embargo provision, aroused far greater opposition than leaders had expected.

They agreed that senate debate not only would extend into August but would be the most fiery of any since the League of Nations fight after the World War.

Legislation to provide for the President's $3,800,000,000 lending program probably will not be ready for another week, but Republicans already have indicated that they will fight its enactment as strongly as they opposed continuation of his power to devalue the dollar.

Financial and Commercial

Little Change in Domestic News During Last Week

With the Fourth in the offing and many brokers leaving the city Friday afternoon until over the holiday attendance in the street Saturday was the smallest this year, although the volume, 185,400 shares, was not quite as low as has been registered at some of the short sessions. Prices showed a fairly sharp rebound, industrial issues, as measured in the Dow Jones averages, being up 1.10 points for the day, closing at 131.73. Ralls were ahead 0.06 point, to 25.93 and utilities showed a gain of 0.12 point, to 23.09. For the week as a whole substantial losses were shown. The industrials closed Saturday 5.63 points below the June 24 final prices. Ralls dropped 1.83 points during the week and utilities were off 0.96 point.

The only two commodity markets open for the regular session Saturday were wheat and cotton. The former eased after early firmness and Chicago prices were down 1/2 to 1 1/4 cents a bushel. Cotton futures closed up four to five points.

There was little change in domestic news the past week and indices generally were not unfavorable. Automobile production is showing a seasonal tapering off as the new model season approaches. Steel production declined slightly. Cardboardings for the week to June 24 showed the best ratio of gain, with one exception, of any week this year and were 15 per cent above the same week last year. The General Motors-Cornell world price index of 40 basic commodities showed an advance for the week ended June 24 and stood at 61.3 per cent, with the 1910-14 period taken as 100 per cent.

Indications that the steel price structure may be firming is seen in the announcement that several companies have notified customers that concessions on steel plates are no longer available.

Earnings of Commonwealth Edison are reflecting increased use of electricity in the Chicago district. Estimates show that the corporation will have net income for the six months ended June 30 of around $12,000,000 or more, as against $9,437,422 reported for same period last year.

Wesson Oil and Snowdrift reports net loss of $972,445 for the three months ended June 3 vs. net gain of $728,284 in the same period in 1938.

Governor Baldwin of Connecticut has signed the so-called "loss leader" bill. It bars the sale of merchandise at less than cost "with intent to injure competitors or destroy competition." It is provided that prices must be determined by freight, cartage, overhead and invoice costs.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale is expected to show a material increase in production for the fiscal year ended September 30 as compared with the $1.12 a share earned in the 1938 fiscal year. The June 30 quarter is expected to show a profit of 40 cents a share, a gain of around 35 per cent over the same quarter year ago.

Men's wear sales in chain stores during May showed an increase of 15 per cent over sales in May, 1938, to Department of Commerce estimates.

New York, July 3 (AP)—A few shares moved up a rung or two in the stock market today but most issues were becalmed in a thin pre-holiday turnover.

Dealings ran at the rate of less than 300,000 shares for a full session, the smallest of the current restricted trading spell. Prices in the final hour were mixed, mostly showing minor fractional changes either way.

Suspense over the outcome of the Danzig situation in Europe, as well as the confused legislative picture in Washington, continued to keep speculators on the sidelines. Many remained away from the financial district for a long time.

Fractional gains and losses were the rule most of the time in such issues as U. S. Steel, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Goodyear, International Harvester, Santa Fe and Consolidated Edison. Many shares did not trade at all.

American Telephone rose a point at the start and Industrial rayon advanced more than a point on a transaction of 4,000 shares.

Later yielding part of the gain, Celanese, Loft and most copper mining shares were other firm spots, the mining group stimulated by reports of broad foreign demand for the red metal.

In the curb, Cities Service, Lockheed and Consolidated Copper climbed a bit in a mixed market.

The program starts at 8:30 and in addition to the address there will be a display of fireworks, while dancing will conclude the evening.

The various nearby resorts catering to the general public have put their best foot forward for the entertainment of holiday visitors. Williams Lake and DeWitt Lake may be expected to attract a large patronage from the many who enjoy swimming and bathing and the numerous other attractions which these well known resorts have to offer the public.

The horse racing at Goshen will double over horse lovers from this section, while those whose chief joy in life is a fireman's parade may journey to Hudson and witness the annual parade and inspection there.

Gordon Kelder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kelder of Ellenville, has been in Syracuse for the past week, where he has an Equity Theatre contract for five weeks' engagement at the Civic Repertory Theatre. He will play juvenile leads in four productions and at the end his contract calls for a desirable option.

They open tonight when Gordon will play the part of a juvenile bad boy in "Our Town." Mr. Kelder's opportunity came as a result of the work he has done as a member of the "Little Theatre" movement in Ellenville.

Glens Falls Scores 7 in 9th To Bury Colonials 12-5

Everything was going fairly well for the Kingston Colonials at the Athletic Field yesterday afternoon until the ninth inning. Then like a thunderbolt the Glens Falls Clerks walloped Joe Brown for four hits and seven runs. Before this surge the score was knotted 5-5. After the smoke had cleared the tally was 12 to 5.

Roger Hanlon started for the up-staters but was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh and then gave way to Bud Hebert who took the fireman's role and was the winning pitcher. Hanlon was nipped for all of the Colonials runs and hits. Hebert's two-inning stint was blotted only by walks to Hoffman and MacTavish.

Both clubs marched into the scoring column in the very first frame with two runs apiece. Marty Zayachek who collected a homer and triple off of Brown, started the run-making with his four-ply smack into deep left center. Moore walked. After McGurick lifted to DuBois, Beale singled sharply to left sending Moore over to third. While Ruke was batting, Joe Hoffman whizzed the ball back to Brown just a little too fast and Moore romped in. Kingston topped right back and pushed in the tying markers on singles by Husta, Tiano, and DuBois.

Charlie Lay ended the frame by grounding to Carman with the bags packed.

The Davemen jumped into the driver's seat in the third frame when Charlie Francello poked a long double into center field after Tiano and DuBois were retired. Frankie Neff blasted a single out to Lauzan in left and Francello came in. Dick Carman had to go to his left on Lay's bouncer. It went for a single. Neff took second. When Joe Brown hoisted a looper into short right, Neff dashed in from second with the bats fourth run.

Successive errors by DuBois and McGurick followed by Norm Lauzan's solo made it 4-3 for Kingston during Glen Falls' fourth inning. Then in the sixth they tied the count at 4-4. Brown got Ruke hoist to DuBois in left for the first out. Then Dick Carman, who had three of the visitors' runs, grounded down shortstop and Francello, after booting a ball, made a hurried and ill-planned over to Neff on first. Carman galloped to second on Neff's error. Lauzan again came through in the clutch and a single to center scoring Neff with the equalizer.

Then came the storm! Marty Zayachek opened the fireworks by kicking Brown for a free ticket. More outraged Neff's throw to Murphy at first on his attempted out and both runners were safe. Glens Falls still played the bunt game as McGurick laid one out. Brown scooped it up and tossed too late to Husta covering the bag. All men were safe and no outs. Beale hit a popper in front of the plate and after the out had bounced, Hoffman stepped home forcing Zayachek.

Two of the seven runs came in when Husta muffed Beale's bound and then threw wildly over the man. Moore and McGurick stepped in. The bags were again as Carman walked. Steve Jones singled sharply to right forcing Beale and Ward. Still the flow as Lauzan skinned a single past Murphy, Carman regressed and Pagones went to second. Hebert whiffed for the second out. Brown felt better. But Zayachek took a toe-hold on down's first pitch and slammed a double to deep left scoring Pagones and Lauzan with the final runs for Glens Falls. Neff took Moore's under for the final out. Kingston got two walks in their half, but failed to score.

How To Shoot Skeet

By Col. A. J. Macmahon, U. S. A., Retired

Typical attire. Note amber-tinted glasses and snug, close-fitting jacket with large shell pockets.

(Second in a Series)

Skeet-shooting need not be expensive. It costs involve a club membership, a gun, clay birds and shells.

In most localities you will find a choice of clubs. Many golf clubs have skeet fields. Fees are nominal.

The chief personal requisite is, of course, a suitable gun. When you're standing on the firing line, a clay bird is whipped from a trap at a difficult angle, you will want a gun that manipulates in your hands with ease and speed and perfect balance.

The stock is especially important. A stock too long or too short or with too much drop causes under-shooting. Make sure the gun really fits.

The beginner can obtain a satisfactory gun for a modest outlay. Or he can spend $1,500.

Once rigged out, the principal costs will be for shells and targets.

Avoid clothes that interfere with rapid and free movement. A shooting jacket should be loose enough for comfort, yet snug enough so that it will not bunch or wrinkle under the butt of the gun. Heavy sleeves that bind the arms are bad.

Goshen Harness Races Under Way

Goshen, N. Y., July 3 (AP)—A four-day meeting at which $22,800 in purses will be distributed at Historic half-mile track opens the eastern part of the grand circuit harness racing season today.

Although the richest purses—$3,000 for the Historic stake for three-year-old trotters and the two $4,000 Village Farm stakes for pacers—won't be raced for until Wednesday and Thursday, the meeting starts with plenty of action.

Nate Hanover, speedy double-gaited gelding owned by I. W. Gleason of Williamsport, Pa., is one of five expected to start in the opening $1,000 race. He was entered for it before he trotted a 2:02 1/4 mile to win a heat in the $2,000 Merchants and Manufacturers stake at Toledo last week.

With Vic Fleming handling the reins, he's expected to start as co-favorite with E. Roland Harriman's Watson Hanover. Nate Hanover also is eligible to pace against a bunch of 2:00 sidewheelers later in the meeting.

More Prizes for Ulster Skeeters

Ulster County Gun Club members have their shotguns well oiled and cleaned for the annual skeet championship to held tomorrow afternoon. Officials of the club have been encouraged by the interest shown and have increased the awards in the handicap phase of the shoot to three.

The arm brassard denoting the club's skeet championship will be awarded to the skeeter breaking the most targets in the 100-bird event. To the scratch scores will be added the handicap based upon past averages of the gunners and every entrant will be eligible for the handicap awards except the champion.

The shoot is scheduled to start at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Preparations have been made to handle a large number of both club members and spectators and a good turnout is anticipated.

The Ulster Gun Club is located on the Plank Road, about one mile from Kingston.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

(By The Associated Press)

All that most major league players want is a fighting chance and they'll keep safe from classification as a parlor sport. That was demonstrated yesterday in a right-house game program for 193-338 patrons at eight parks.

Three contests were punctuated by fighting, firecrackers and pop bottles and in another three players were injured. But withal there was considerable good baseball and a realignment of the standings in both leagues.

In the National the league-leading Cincinnati Reds divided a double-bill with the Chicago Cubs, winning the first, 11-3, and booting the second, 9-8, to enable the Cubs to climb into third place ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals, who were beaten twice by Pittsburgh, 8-5 and 6-3.

In the American Old Moses Grove of the Boston Red Sox handcuffed the New York Yankees in one half of a doubleheader, 7-3, but the champions broke loose to win the nightcap, 9-3. The Washington Senators took care of shuffling the standings by whipping the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3 and 13-2.

Bridges' 11th

Detroit had only one game, but put on the best show even aside from the fact Tommy Bridges pitched a four-hitter against the Chicago White Sox to win his 11th of the season, 5-1.

As an aftermath to Saturday's slugging of Joe Kuhel by Hank Greenberg, which brought a fine of $50 for Greenberg and an admission from President William Hargrave to the White Sox for "insulting and abusive language," Manager Jimmy Dykes emptied his dugout yesterday.

He sent all the Sox players who weren't actually in the game out to the centerfield lot pen where they couldn't tease the Tigers. Then in the fourth inning Umpire Ed Rummel called a disagreeable third strike on Eric McNair, who threw his bat high into the air and was quickly banished. This caused Dykes to forget about the chastening of his team's language and he and Pitcher Ted Lyons were soon flagged off the field, too.

Manager Casey Stengel, of the Boston Bees, and Merrill May, of the Phillies, punched each other and were expelled at Philadelphia after May had collided with Second Baseman Ed Martin of the Bees in trying to prevent a double play. Boston won both games—the first 9-7 when Al Lopez hit a homer with the bases loaded and the second 4-3 as Martin homered with two on.

Fistsluffs

Fire-crackers popped and pop-bottles were fired from the ramparts of the Polo Grounds as Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and big Zeke Bonura, the usually amiably first baseman of the Giants, fought for the mixed-weight championship of New York.

The Dodgers won the first game, 3-2, on Luke Hamlin's six-hit pitching but lost the second, 6-4, to a home run barrage in which Bonura participated. Durocher stepped on Zeke's ankle in a play at first base in the nightcap and Bonura went berserk throwing the ball and his glove at Durocher and then chasing him into the outfield to get a punch.

Like most baseball fights, nobody got hurt in these goings on. But at Boston they had real injuries. First, Catcher Gene DeSautels of the Red Sox was bowled over tagging Tommy Henrich at the plate and had to retire for the day with a cut mouth. Then Young Bobby Doerr was struck on the elbow by one of Lefty Gomez's pitches and taken to a hospital. Finally Henrich smashed into the bleacher wall and cut a gash in his head trying to field Ted Williams' home run.

Four stitches were required to close the wound, but the hospital said neither he nor Doerr was seriously hurt. Williams' homer, incidentally, came with two on in the seventh and broke a tie to give the second place Red Sox the game. They lost the second section as Bill Dickey and Joe DiMaggio hit homers and Bump Hadley backed them up with good pitching.

Cleveland and the St. Louis Browns split a bargain bill, each game being won by five-hit pitching. Howard Mills got his performance down first as the Browns won 4-3, while Mel Harder took the night cap, 8-2.

Buddy Lewis and Johnny Velaz were the stars of the Senators' climb over the Athletics. With the A's already leading and having the bases filled in the ninth inning, Lewis wiped out a rally on an unassisted double play and then homered with one on to win the first game. Velaz drove in six runs with two doubles and two singles in the second game.

Paul Derringer's six hit pitching supported by the home runs of Ernie Lombardi and Lonnie Frey made Cincinnati's victory easy in the first game, but in the nightcap six Redleg pitchers gave up 13 bases on balls and walked in four runs to carve their own defeat.

In sweeping their St. Louis series the Pirates moved into a fifth place tie with the Dodgers. Bob Klinger was effective in the punches in the first game as Arky Vaughan led a hard-hitting attack while Elbie Fletcher closed the bases with a homer to help Jim Tobin in the second game.

Presentations

On Sunday afternoon at Napamoch the Port Ewen Presentations split a double header, dropping the first by a score of 9 to 7 and taking the second 9 to 4. Batteries for Port Ewen were Nitan, Auringer and Hertica. Hitting honors for the day went to Cannon, Prendergast and Manello.

Crucial Game

The Downtown Merchants, meeting the Elks today in a postponed match at the City Softball park, Opus division, will seek to extend their lead over the Jones Dairy.

Wiltwycks, Grunies Are League Opponents Tonight

Gus Steigerwald's Wiltwycks, back on the winning road after a decisive 7-3 victory over Boiceville Friday, and Johnny Weiss's Grunwalds are booked for tonight's City Loop diamond tussle.

The Icehouse Gang, after dropping two straight, cut loose on the battered Boiceville Rangers. Pounding out nine bingles for their best offensive display in the last race, the Ice-cubes found their hitting stride against Blouhy.

Grunwalds ragged defense once again proved their undoing in their last two starts. The Bakers have been plagued by more than their share of "bad breaks" and are due to drop up with their first half win. Loose defenses have dropped the Weissmen to the cellar. The Bakers must cop tonight's tilt to stay in the last half running.

Bucky Ashdown is the probable starting hurler for the Ice-cubes with either Eddie Murphy or Red Sleight working for the cellar bound Grunies. With Jimmy Steigerwald, Les Brick, Ted Freleigh and Vince Stoll pounding the pill hard at long last, the Wiltwycks will take plenty of stopping.

Tonight's contest was originally slated for Wednesday, July 5, but was moved up before the holiday in order to accommodate a probable non-league tilt Wednesday.

The former world champion snatched one of two European crowns sported by Adolf Heuser, another German, yesterday in less time than it took Louis to freeze Schmeling's hopes in New York a year ago. He used the same system, picking the first visible opening in his rival's defense to put over a crushing wallop.

A right to the temple which traveled only a few inches but carried all the power of Schmeling's younger days finished Heuser. Some 70,000 spectators in Adolf Hitler Arena gasped and then went wild about Maxie.

When Vince Sempervino, now fighting as Vinny Vines, returns to the municipal auditorium, Friday night he'll swap punches with a formidable foe, Stanley Miller, U. S. Army welterweight champions.

Miller, according to his record, is a perpetual puncher who keeps boring in all the time, and with this sort of scrapper, the former amateur from Schenectady should put up another of the sensational fights that localistic patrons used to enjoy.

Coming from Uncle Sam's army himself as the amateur welter title holder of the Hawaiian Islands, Sempervino cleaned up in the Adirondack A. A. U. division, taking the measure of the best boys around upper New York state.

Richard Cremar, hard-socking welter from the Salem Crescent gym in New York, however, proved that Vince, like Joe Louis, is not a super-man if he's hit right, and Miller is gunning for a knockout victory Friday.

"If I get by Yussel Goldstein and Ernie Robinson," said Miller in accepting the match, "I should be able to take the measure of Vines." Miller, whose home is in Boston, has defeated some of the best professionals in the east.

Since quitting the amateurs to train under the direction of Ray Arcel, the tutor of Benny Leonard and other top-notchers, Vines has improved to the extent that he's rated a good prospect for the welter title. Vince has worked out with both Tony Canzoneri and Lou Ambers, in New York. He gave both plenty to figure out, and proved to them that he's a puncher.

Vince's record shows eight knockouts in 13 of his fights. Besides Sempervino, eight fans will see three other of their old amateur favorites in action Friday at the auditorium. Tommy Zano will be back as a pro battler, meeting Nat Kadin, Jewish star from the East Side, the only battler to have Jackie Kid Berg on the floor since his comeback; Mario Severino (Marty Servo), so far undefeated in the money ranks vs. Larry Esposito, tough and ready Spaniard from New York, and Billie Pitti, Rome, who went to San Francisco from the Adirondack A. A. U. to compete for a national crown. Pinti will box Al Kerner of New York.

Troopers Say Holiday Travel About Same as Last Year

There was the usual heavy week-end traffic ushering in the national holiday and the opening of the summer resort season and state troopers and city police were kept busy handling the stream of cars that poured through the city and over main highways leading into Ulster and Sullivan counties.

Sergeant E. J. Hulse said that it was rather difficult to estimate the traffic as compared with former years, in the Highland section, as there is not the congestion there that there was when the old two-strip highway had to carry all the load. He said this morning that the influx started on Friday, reached its peak on Saturday and continued in good number Sunday forenoon, when there was a slackening. He judged that as a whole it was probably about the same as last year. Traffic officers were handling the situation in good style and no accidents were reported up to this morning.

Trooper Walter Keene of the Saugerties section said that the week-end was busy and believed that, if anything, the traffic was heavier than a year ago.

West Shore trains into Kingston Friday and through the week-end brought many vacationists from New York city who made their way over the Catskill Mountain Division to points in the Catskills. A large proportion of these were boys and girls—1,200 to 1,500 of them—who came up to spend the summer at numerous camps in Ulster and Greene counties and three special trains were run on the Mountain Division Sunday. Among the numerous destinations were Camps Hilltop, Phenicia, Lilliput, Pine Hill, Mayfair, at Kauterskill Junction; Pioneer Youth Camp, Kingston; Camps Lexington, Schoharie and Beecher at Hunter; Camp Tarigo, Fleischmanns. In addition to those coming to Kingston numerous passengers for Saugerties and Catskill were noted.

The bus companies are reporting heavier travel as compared with a year ago. John Van Gonic of the Adirondack Transit Lines said this morning that their business is running some 20 or 30 per cent ahead of last year. They are running extra buses on every schedule and in addition to the five new coaches which they put into commission Saturday are hiring 10 or 15 extra buses. At the office of the Greyhound Lines much the same story was told, it being stated that business was a great deal better than a year ago and that they were hiring all the extra buses they could get hold of. Resorts are reporting good crowds, some of the hotels being filled to capacity. Locally, at Williams Lake and at DeWitt Lake, there were large week-end crowds and all rooming accommodations are taken. A visitor from Phenicia said this morning that the hotels there are having good patronage and on up the line accommodations are at a premium.

6,000 Planes in Two Years, Hope of Army

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Economies through mass production have raised the hopes of some army officials for an air corps of 6,000 planes within two years.

Congress authorized such a trebled force as a maximum in the $300,000,000 air corps expansion now in full swing, but the funds it made available were officially estimated to be sufficient for only 5,500.

Whether the additional aircraft can be acquired with available money is expected to be determined when bids are opened this week for construction of more than 2,500 planes of 10 types.
